Concept:

In fact, this is a recruitment for a company about photography. I would design a homepage about me, which includes my name, age and other information. When I introduce in my education, there is a link to a detail page. Finally, my contact information will be show on the third page, including my address and phone number and so on.

Simple logos and pages that are more impressive were a big part of what got me started.